

SPECIFICATION AMENDMENT

Please amend paragraph [0011] of the Specification as indicated below:

[0011] In accordance with features of the present invention, a method is described that shows the steps of receiving as book files from a remote print-on-demand repository, a digital representation of a book in "common normal format" and targeted for reproduction, automatically converting the book files from common normal format into "equipment specific format," which [is] are solution-dependent formatted book files to match the needs of a book reproduction system, and reproducing said book from information comprised by said solution-dependent formatted book files. The digital book represented by the equipment specific format can be submitted for production or stored for future use, or both.